

The BEKI Benei Mitzva Program Package 5771

Students celebrating bar- or bat-mitzva between February 2011 and March 2012 should register for the Benei Mitzva Program now (2010-2011 School Year).

□ First class meeting Wednesday 1 September 2010 from 5:00p to 6:15p

In 1999, in response to requests by BEKI parents, Congregation Beth El-Keser Israel created the BEKI Benei Mitzva Program for children of BEKI members. The program is designed to provide a combination of peer study and individual one-on-one instruction. Participants will have the opportunity to learn to lead significant portions of services as well as the fundamentals of what it means to be a bar- or bat-mitzva in our day, particularly as those issues are raised in the liturgy. The focus of the class is on synagogue skills. Educational and planning support for parents and families are included.

In addition to the Wednesday afternoon class meetings, each participant will meet with their tutor on a weekly basis (approximately) at a time of mutual convenience to be arranged with their assigned tutor. Each participant will be expected to devote about 30 to 40 minutes to home practice four days a week.

The BEKI Benei Mitzva Program provides about 25 hours of “class time” plus up to 25 hours of individual one-on-one tutoring. The program is designed to provide a complete preparation package for most students. However, students who wish to supplement this “basic” program with additional studies, students with special interests, or students needing extra help, are encouraged to study beyond the scope of the program. Program staff will be glad to help with such arrangements, either within or beyond our program’s structure. We are eager to work closely with our tutors to help make these months of preparation the best they can be for our benei mitzva.

New this year (2010), an eight-week one-half hour session with Ina Silverman will explore with students issue of responsible Jewish adulthood. Sessions with Ina are Wednesdays 6 October – 15 December 2010 from 4:30p to 5:00p.

During the preparation year, participants will be scheduled to lead public services several months before their date of celebration. There are several service segments that minors may lead, and it is important for them to gain familiarity with the services and comfort in leading public worship before their “big day.”

Please plan to attend Shabbat evening services (Friday night) and Shabbat morning services each week. Be sure to check the “Rotation Schedule for Service Leaders” as well as the instructions that accompany it.

A team of tutors have a significant role in training the participants. Besides their teaching, these tutors, some of whom are young adults, can serve as excellent role models for our benei mitzva students.

Beyond a commitment of your student’s time, we must also ask for a significant financial commitment to make this program possible. The good news is that we believe we can provide a quality program at a cost that is significantly less than what most families would otherwise pay.

The program fee includes –

- Twenty-five hours of class time (including individual work with adult teachers) (a $500 value)
- Up to 25 hours of individual tutoring (a $500 to $1,250 value)
- Up to five hours with Rabbi Tilsen or another BEKI educator for Devar Torah (sermon) preparation (invaluable)
- A four-hour (eight sessions of 30 minutes) unit with Ina Silverman
- Parent Preparation on making the celebration a family experience
- A $350 credit toward use of the social hall following the service (see rental form for details) or higher credit for multiple event weekend (a $350 to $600 value)
- Three hours of kashrut supervision (required) for a celebration at BEKI (included in room rental fees)
- A copy of Siddur Sim Shalom for Shabbat and Festivals (a $50 value)
- The Guide to Benei Mitzva Observances at BEKI
- Electronic Recordings of BEKI melodies for our services (a $50 value)
- Workshops and individual consultations on assigning aliyot (honors)

At standard rates, a typical family would pay at least $3,500 for these services. (If you are experiencing “sticker shock” at this point, be aware that most BEKI families spend, in addition to this figure, $2,000 to $20,000 for the relatively modest and tasteful qiddush luncheons and parties that follow the religious services.) We are able to provide this benei mitzva preparation “package” to BEKI members for $1,325 (some limitations apply) for those who register and pay by 1 September 2010. After 1 September 2010, the program fee will be $1,400. This program actually costs the synagogue more than we are charging. The subsidy represents part of BEKI’s commitment to youth education.

Your student may also need supplies, such as tallit, tefillin, third-party software including Trope Trainer and Tefillah Trainer, and other items, some of which are described in the Guide and which may cost several hundred dollars. Families who need to may speak with Rabbi Tilsen about finding library copies or alternatives.

(Additional fees apply for date reservation, facility rentals, food service and other services for celebrations you may plan at BEKI. Please contact Office Manager Peggy Hackett at 389-2108 x14 office@beki.org for information on options for extended celebrations.)
